PAYMENT, CANCELLATION, AND DEFERRAL POLICY

The program fee covers tuition and program materials. For in-person and blended programs, the fee also includes accommodations and most meals. You will be invoiced upon admission to the program. Payment is due within 30 days, or upon receipt of the invoice if the program start date is fewer than 30 days from the invoice date.

If you need to cancel your participation, you must submit your request in writing at least 30 days prior to the program start date. For those who have paid, cancellation requests meeting the 30-day-notice requirement will result in a refund of the amount paid. Cancellation requests received 14 to 30 days prior to the start of the program are subject to a cancellation fee equal to one-half of the program fee. Cancellation requests received fewer than 14 days prior to the start of the program are subject to a cancellation fee equal to the program fee.

As an alternative to cancellation, participants who have paid the full program fee may request one deferral to a future confirmed program. Deferral requests will be reviewed based on space available and admissions policies. If admitted, participants may be responsible for any difference between the program fee they have already paid and the program fee for the future program.

I have read the payment, cancellation, and deferral policy and agree to the terms stated. (please initial here):

NOMINATING INFORMATION

Please provide the nominating executive's contact information. The nominating executive may be a senior executive or board member within the organization, or a Harvard Business School alumni member familiar with the candidate. Please note that the nominating executive must be someone other than the applicant. HBS may contact the nominating executive as part of the application review process.

Harvard Business School (HBS) is governed by a set of community values that foster honesty, respect for others, and accountability for one's actions. HBS considers these values essential for a safe and productive learning environment for all. Harvard Business School reserves the right to withdraw an offer of admission in the event that any part of your application contains misrepresentations, or if you engage in, or have engaged in, behavior that violates HBS Community Values.

In accordance with Harvard University policy, Harvard Business School does not discriminate against any person on the basis of race, color, sex or sexual orientation, gender identity, religion, age, national or ethnic origin, political beliefs, veteran status, or disability in admission to, access to, treatment in, or employment in its programs and activities.

SUBMITTING APPLICATION

Please return this application directly to the Scholarship Awarding Organization to whom you are applying for scholarship support. Each Scholarship Awarding Organization will have provided details on how to submit the application.

Note that applications submitted only to Harvard Business School Executive Education Admissions will not be received by the Scholarship Awarding Organization, and therefore will not be considered for the organization's scholarship opportunity.
